Quartet Bio's

The Kleio Quartet, formed in 2019 at the International Chamber Academy in Switzerland, has since enjoyed a residency at Aldeburgh and has performed at venues such as the Wigmore Hall and Royal Festival Hall in London. They will be travelling straight from their residency at Drimnin to Denmark for the Copenhagen International Chamber Music Competition.

The Edenis Quartet, whose playing has been described as 'magical', has been selected to participate in the Royal Academy of Music's Frost advanced string programme and has performed regularly in London as well as in France and at the Hatfield Music Festival.

The quartets are both coached by John Myerscough, the cellist of the renowned Doric Quartet, who is also music director of the Mendelssohn on Mull festival. John is Professor of Cello and Chamber Music at the Royal Academy of Music.
